REFERENCE: Sustainable Urban Mobility in Asia (SUMA)

CLIENT: Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida)

YEAR: 2006-

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Sida provides financial support to the Sustainable Urban Mobility in Asia (SUMA) program, administered by the Asian Development Bank, CAI Asia Center.

The program works with Asian cities and countries to strengthen the formulation and implementation of sustainable urban transportation and air quality management policies.

The SUMA partners and experts include ADB, CAI-Asia Center, CAI-Asia Local Networks GTZ-SUTP, ITDP, I-CE, UNCRD, WRI-EMBARQ, Christopher Cherry and Marie Thynell.

The assignment was to follow the project on Sida's behalf, to assist Sida in the evaluation of the program and to provide advisory and suggestions in the area of urban transportation.
